Sticky Knowledge – The Victorians

- The Victorian period is named after Queen Victoria who reigned over Britain and a world Empire from her coronation in 1837-1901.
- Victoria is remembered as a great ruler because during her reign, Britain became the most powerful country in the world with the British Empire making up a quarter of the world's population.
- Workhouses were a place someone went if they could not afford to financially support themselves and their families.
- Workhouses were overcrowded and unpleasant.
- Until the late 19th Century, education was a reserve of the rich.
- As many families were poor, children had to work instead of attending school, they worked long hours for very little money.
- During the industrial revolution manufacturing moved from small shops to large factories.
- Many important things were invented in Victorian times such as the telephone, light bulb and camera.
- Thomas Edison was a major inventor responsible for the light bulb, camera and sound recording.
- There were distinct social classes: upper class, middle class and working class. Life was awful for the poorest; awful working conditions and little food.
